The PMI Columbia Basin Chapter is requesting your support in Sponsoring the 2016 Project of the Year (POY) Competition. The competition recognizes, honors and publicizes project teams, and their companies, for superior performance while executing commendable project management principles. The Columbia River Basin Chapter has held the POY competition and Awards Gala for over 20 years and the event has become a legacy that the community has supported graciously.

A highly motivated project team has been working on this years POY Awards Competition with the goal to make this years event the chapter's best year to date. They have received a great response regarding nominations from a variety of industries. At the Gala on March 3rd 2016, held at the Anthology Event Venue, a POY Winner, and a Peoples Choice Award, will be announced.

This event attracts the attention of many top notch companies, government organizations, key executives, project management leaders, and many other project participants.

In fact, in 2012 the chapter's winner was the "Umatilla Chemical Agent Disposal Facility-Operations Phase" and it went on to win the Global PMI POY Award. And in 2015, the chapters winner was Washington Closure Hanford- "River Corridor Base Scope Project" and went they went on to be one of the finalists for the PMI Global competition.
